

Clayesmore School

Gender Pay Gap Report April 2021

CLAYESMORE

Introduction

This report contains Clayesmore School's statutory disclosure of the gender pay gap for the employees of the school. All companies with 250 or more employees are required to publish their gender pay gap under new legislation that came into force in April 2017. Employers have to publish the gap in pay between men and women on both a median basis (pay per hour based on the person 'in the middle' of the distribution of pay) and a mean basis (average hourly salary). In addition, employers are required to disclose the distribution of gender by pay quartile and percentages of staff receiving bonuses by gender and the gender pay gap on bonuses.

The staff at Clayesmore are made up of 33% men and 67% women.

The difference in the mean pay of full pay men and women

2.90% (5.42% in the previous year)	This shows our mean hourly gender pay gap as at the snapshot date (5 April 2021)

The above figures have been calculated using the mechanisms that are set out in the gender pay gap reporting legislation.

The following statement accompanies our data

There has been a slight decrease on last years' figures in both the mean and median percentages.

The following will continue to be addressed during the forthcoming year to reduce the pay gap and achieve a broader gender balance across our staff.

- Providing our recruiting managers with appropriate training to ensure a robust recruitment and selection process and removal of unconscious bias
- A review of the pay and allowance structures for teaching and support staff
- Developing an inclusive culture and workplace enabling all staff to reach their potential through promotion of learning and development opportunities, career conversations, and coaching and mentoring

I confirm that the data reported is accurate
